The Graduating Class of 1995 Come and look. See, they are here. In this section, you will be able to have a look at this years graduating class and read about them and their thoughts as they leave these famed halls of CBC. Pray for them as they step out into the real world.

Celebrating Sports—If anything CBC has been known for, it is its sportsmanship. On the following pages, you will be able to see what sports teams CBC has had. Many students participate in them while some just spectate. But, everyone in some way enjoys watching our teams go. The Spirit of CBC Lives!!

Our Faculty & Staff—This section is wholly devoted to our faculty and staff here at CBC. Most, if not all, have been represented here by picture or name.

A Blast From The Past—It would not be fitting that we, CBC, having celebrated our 100 years do not in some way, show you our past and future. These last pages are a representation of how we started and how we have grown as well as where we may be headed as we travel into our next 100 Years. Congrats, CBC!!

The President's Address

Dear Students,

A century from our perspective is a long time. From God's, it is only a heartbeat, a flicker, in respect to eternity.

Yet during this heartbeat of time, God has focused in on CBC and, as He has done faithfully throughout the ages, He has given us, who have walked the halls of Ontario Bible College, His undivided attention.

Our heritage is rich because our God is loyal and able to be trusted. Our alumni, which some of you are now joining, have been used by our Lord to shape this world over the past century.

Less than one-half of one percent of all organizations which begin with goals, dreams and aspirations ever see their 100th anniversary. Remember that statistic, for CBC's Centennial is a direct result of God's providential care. Also remember that you are a product of a divine vision, which was discussed by candlelight on May 12, 1894, as God instilled in the hearts of 12 men to take a giant step for His Kingdom.

May our Lord protect your ministry for Him and may you be true to your school.

The Unforgettable Journey

Student Leadership '94

The cars were packed. The truck loaded. The shuttle bus rockin'. The stage was set for the Leadership Retreat of 1994. Destination: Awenda Provincial Park, Penetanguishene, ON. Towards the rocky and serene shores of Georgian Bay the Leadership Team travelled, full of expectations, excitement, and, of course, energy. The days ahead were full of promise and sunshine (we hoped). We were not disappointed, well except for the sunshine part but we'll save that story for a rainy day! With the camp set up and the retreat underway, the team experienced a wide range of activities. Whether it was preparing the meals, having to scrape up a sample of animal droppings for Cherilyn's scavenger hunt, suffering through Rick's punishing game of "Exodus", or singing around the campfire, this year's leadership team was treated to two days of fun, relaxation, and, most importantly, spiritual guidance. It was a time for OBC's student leaders and Community Life staff to form a bond with one another and with the Lord before a busy and stressful year, and to learn the importance of working as a team. There isn't a better way to accomplish this than having to share a tent with three or four other bodies, having to work together to build a fire or preparing Egg McMuffins over cold camp stoves at eight in the morning. We bonded as a team over those two days in late August. We learned about ourselves, about others, and about Christ. We came back tired, we came back a little wet, but, above all, we returned equipped for the task which lay before us.

By: Trevor Russell

"...having to scrape up a sample of animal droppings for Cherilyn's scavenger hunt..."

After this, Steve turned into the Incredible Hulk. We're sorry we can't show you but it wasn't a pretty sight. Debbie's never been the same since. (Debbie Harris & Steve Bussey)

"Aw, C'mon John. Please don't put it in the yearbook. I'll do anything. I'll write captions, develop film, I'll even carry your camera for you. Please don't put it in the yearbook. Please?!" (Trevor Russell)

"All heaven declares the glory of the risen Lord. Who can compare with the beauty of the Lord?" (One beautiful sunset at Georgian Bay, Aweda Provincial Park)

I'm the guy your mother warned you about. Usually I'm cute and cuddly, but when I let loose... Watch Out Ladies! (Jay Lehman, 4 Central RA)

Listen, if I want to brush my tonsils, I have every right and freedom to do so. It's a proven fact. Brushing your tonsils greatly reduces the risk of laryngitis. (Joanna Eto)

I love it when they let me string them along. They're all putty in my hands. Ooo. That's fun! (Danielle Lamarche and the Boys Steve, Eddie and Paul)

Luana-she is quiet, gentle, caring, warm, capable, proper and kind. However to this day I'm not sure I understand her sudden interest in the game of soccer. (Luana Busch, 5 Central RA)

Any jokes about pigs and I'll gently shove this apple up your nose. Nice morning isn't it?! (Todd Brown, Editor of the New Apocrypha)

The wildlife at Awenda was nothing short of breath-taking. Beautiful. Grrrr! (Luana Busch, Joy Wood, Krista Webb, Natasha Gascho)

"Amigos Para Siempre" means you'll always be my friend!" To Paul, life's a musical and the world, his stage. (Paul Morris)

MORE THAN YOU

IMAGINED

No one told me that RA training would be this rigorous. But I am determined. I too will have many dorm dates with my sister dorm. (Vania Willik & Jay Lehman)

Being a student leader is hard. Camping, playing, telling others what to do, singing, telling others what to do. No, being a student leader is Great! (Don Ludlow, 4 South RA)

FROSH ORIENTATION

From The Familiar To The Unknown. A Frosh Perspective

Leaving behind the funky tartan, fiddle music, and miles of farm land of Cape Breton and heading towards the tall buildings, crazy traffic, and smog of Toronto was pretty scary. However, when I arrived at OBC, it was almost as scary. Strange people, people wanting all my money and happy, insane people in purple shirts bopping around. After signing about a hundred checks and giving away all my money, and them bolting up what seemed to be a about a million stairs, I found my dorm, my roommate, and my RA. The most comforting thing I saw was a ton of other people looking almost as lost and as scared as I felt.

When I look back on that first day and also that first week at OBC, it makes me laugh. Those crazy people in purple shirts turned out to be great. They worked hard to help us, showed us around, helped us feel at home, and worked hard to plan a great week of fun and memories. A trip to the "wet and cold" Centre Island where, when you left, you either had pneumonia or really dirty feet from geese droppings. First time and fast rides on the subway, trips downtown Toronto wandering aimlessly looking for Kensington Market, roaming around Queen St., losing people, running to people's aid on the street, seeing the sights, and going to Canada's Wonderland praying that we wouldn't die on the rollercoasters. Line ups on registration day, and of course the hardest battle of all - trying to stay awake. The things that I think were the most productive were the praisefests and the ravine walk, where you could feel the unity of this group of people.

Orientation week was fun but the best parts were the friends we have made and how quickly we became like family. Frosh, upperclass, staff and faculty coming together with one main goal - God. This family and these friends we will have forever.

"From Him the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work."

Oh, sure, just because we're new and no one knows us here, I'm supposed to be well mannered. Forget It! This is me. You married me; live with it!

Everyone should have their very own life size Klingon Personal Scalp Massager and Back Scratcher. A little more to the right please. Aahhhh!. (John Walduck & Mark Abraham)

The Top 10 REASONS FOR NOT GOING HOME ON TUESDAY...

10. The irresistable RA's
9. the variety in Beaver Foods
8. the huge and spacious rooms we were assigned
7. the most comfortable beds in the world
6. the mountain of stairs
5. stereo wars
4. the cool voice mail
3. gotta love Otis, he is never around

Up top we have Tracey. Not only the author of the Frosh Perspective, but also a product of God's country, Cape Breton & NewFoundLand.

Yeah, Yeah. Move your hand out of the way. Bring that cute yellow mouse over and I'll show you what I think of balloon animals.

They say a picture is worth a thousand words. This one says "It's only the first week of school, but we're beginning to get tired of smiling for that John guy."

Well, if you want OSAP you have to take this corridor, make a left followed by a right, take the stairs two flights, make an immediate right and it's the door at the end of the hallway. (Kara Riepma & Frosh)

The BIG Event

This Saturday only, I will be conducting a Hair Clinic where I'll reveal many of my secrets for full, rich, curly, lustrious hair. The ladies are welcome as well. Tips on accessories will be part of the clinic as well. (David Lapsley)

I was told the picnic was free for all frosh, but you're wearing a purple shirt so I'll trust you. Still, $12 seems pretty steep for potato salad. (Trish Hunt)

Welcome to OBC's wax museum Don, one of our frosh, captures the true spirit of Frosh Week. Loud, Obnoxious, and Out of Control. Take the "Behind Bars" motif. (Don Elliott)

Ok, I'm tired of smiling. Take the picture and if you come any closer you'll be sorry. Ha, Ha, Ha. (Frosh student)

OBC is full of party animals, literally. Two frosh students after a full day of Canada's Wonderland. (Sorry, it's just too colorful to leave out)

Do you sense a distance problem in this picture? Cindy, Kara & Andrea getting ready for a showdown.

Here we have our first attempt at casting for the show Maverick. Or is it an attempt at reverting back to our past? Who Knows! They look great, don't they?

OUTRAGEOUS WITH artwist

As we were walking the streets of Kensington Market I overheard a small, but watery voice call out. This is truly a sad story. This is a face only a mother could love. Oops! Wrong book! (A moonfish)

Hey there, folks. I'd like to introduce you to my new family. But please don't tell my wife about this little trip into the past. She'll kill me. Sarah, look at the camera. Not at that tall, blond guy.

UP CLOSE and personal

I can't see the difference, can you see the difference? Of course, the mule is having a much better time, don't you think?

Already into the first week of school and she stirred. Folks, do you think she will make it? It's hard to tell. Oh well, let her sleep.

Students: Being Open and Honest about Themselves

Candids—What exactly are those pictures anyway? Well, according to Mr. Noah Webster, a candid is a descriptive word that means "frankly truthful even if the truth is unpleasant; honest, open." So a picture that is a candid is one that shows a person (in the case of the yearbook, a student) who is letting his or her true personality.

Many of the pictures in this edition are of the candid nature. You will find all sorts of interesting shots of students as they show their true colors here in the halls of OBC. And who could forget those exciting outings?

Many thanks to those who were able to get all those amazing candids.

Remember to look over your shoulder. You never know when one of those yearbook photographers will be taking YOUR picture!!!

By: Lana Baglole

Dawna Wilson models the new manditory student leader's hat and how to wear it in a most diginifed manner.

"I'm just so excited. I'm just so happy; I'm just so thrilled. ..I could just BURST!" (Josh Sklar attempting to contain his Frosh Week excitment.)

"I see Billy and Sue and Joey and Bobby...and I see You!" (Kara Riepma doing her best Romper Room impression.)

"Aw, shucks, don't take my picture....naww, you don't want one of me....make sure you get my good side, OK?" (Jay Lehman catches balloon fever)

JUST LOOK AT US NOW

"Now if someone could just hoist us over we could flap our arms and I'm sure we could fly."

"How's THIS one?" (Krista Hall practices her most welcoming, comforting smile to make the frosh feel at home and safe!")

"Who Me?" "I'm innocent! You can't prove I did it...can you?" (John Bryan attempts the look of complete innocence and surprise.)

Fearless leader Natasha Gascho attempts to move the luggage of all the frosh up to their rooms in one trip.

"Look! Here's one of those tiny miniscule little hairs Don keeps talking about. Oh, sorry! It's a piece of fuzz." (The RA's from South-Don, Krista, Kathy, Eddie.)

Thanks, Beth Ann for this picture. She definitely has that "if looks could kill" look. And believe me when she sees this, it will be the death of me.

After a day of hard partying, Perry and Mark ended up on our list of "Endangered Students". Or is that "Dangerous Students"?

Welcome to OBC's first try for "Swan Lake". As you can see, we have many hopefuls, but only one will be chosen. What do you think?

Does this picture bring Matt into focus or what? He definitely is still a cute and cuddly Teddy Bear. Right, Matt?

Frank was heard saying, "I work best with my own kind— Little People!"

Steve, what's up??? Did Beaver Foods slip something into your sandwich that wasn't very tasty?

behind THE Scenes

I'm not sure what these girls were up to. It was either a pop guzzling contest or they were snorting marshmellows. Who knows! (The girls of 5 South having a little fun!!!)

Caught Ya! Do you know that it's a $100 fine for eating food other than Beaver Foods in the cafe? Hey, we understand. Can I have some? I'm Starved!! (Tim Root pushes off some Harveys while preparing for A & A)

"Put up your hands. You are under arrest for the federal offence of stealing extra tomatoes." "But officer, I didn't know. Honest!!!"

Aaron it's a BALL BAG, not a BODY BAG. And you definitely do not look like a ball. By the way, nice checkered BUTT!!!

The Surgeon General has now declared that "nutty cones" do have terrible side affects on humans. Ahhh, looks like it's stuck again!! Look! Darlene has turned into Dopey.

These are OUR students, our Torch and Flag bearers for the March for Jesus and Prayer Rally held at the Skydome on Saturday, October 1st, 1994.

The [illegible] come and go, the way we dress changes, [illegible] change, but our GOD, our Mighty God, He remains the same. (The Turn of the Century [illegible] Attire)

"...okay, as soon as they take the picture, make your way to the car, get in, and we'll find out just what this baby can do. But remember, Be Discreet About It! (Dr. & Mrs. Penner in Period Costumes)

"Look at that nose! Those eyes! A naked face! Mama told me those creatures were funny looking." (Aaron Stout & A Pig)

"Okay, when he begins to juggle the knives, you blow the horn behind him and I'll squirt him with my Flower." (Cherilyn & Laura clowning around)

"What do you mean clown?!? This is what I do every morning. Everyone looks like this out east!" (Tracey Ross on her better day)

Where do I go from here? God only knows but wherever that is I will going different than I would have before OBC. Thanks to all my profs for the permanent mark each has left in my mind. Thanks also to all the players and coaches of the Ice Hockey team for making college extra challenging by giving me a reason to get up unusually early or stay up unusually late practicing or having (I really did enjoy it though!). I especially would like to express my gratitude to my dear wife Ardelle, my parents and my family for their love and support that helped see me through. and Oh Yeah THANK YOU LORD!

I will never be the same. Two words describe my OBC experience: Paradigm Shifts. I have discovered more of God, His will, His world, His people and more of myself. Thanks to Doreen and Thomas-God's Angels, Lee-Ann, Yvan & Ryan for their loving support. Praise the Lord! Here am I, send me!

There is so much I could say. OBC has shown me that I still have lots to learn, and that is O.K. God has remained true to me. When I felt down and lonely, he always picked me up.
Thanks BC, TL & "The Humber Group". Special thanks to Mom & Dad. Your love, prayers and support have not gone unseen. I Love You!

Years of growing, bending, stretching, hurting, laughing describe my time here. I pray I will continue to follow and grow closer to Him. Thank you to my teachers who helped me and my parents for their constant support. Thanks, Ross, for you. Thank you, God, for making all things possible.

Four years here and only 300 words to sum it all up. There have been great friends and great laughs. Most of all, though, there have been the quieter times when even I could think and grow. Thanks and love to all of you.

Finally, to ??, whoever she may be: Good luck, all the best and I'll be seeing you soon.

Long term friendships have an adverse affect on people, especially in Ontario Bridal College

Hey, Veta. You though I never took a picture of you? Wrong! Have a good day!

As Debbie, our Student Council president, bites into her sub, she realizes that there is something in her sub that just shouldn't be there. (From afar, "Has anyone seen my dog's chewy steak!?!)

Awwww. Ain't that sweet. It makes me want to "_____" (you fill in) Bill and Judy, yet another couple destined to have the Ontario Bridal College logo branded on them. Congratulations!!!

And here is Don who does the branding. No, not with an iron, silly! You use a bow and arrow, remember? Your Cupid!

Thanks to the staff and faculty for all their hard work. Their support and friendliness is appreciated by all the students. The faculty has helped in challenging us all to grow closer to Christ. They have been approachable and open-minded to their students. Without their direction and leading, we would all be where we began. They have been an awesome example and have encouraged us all to do our best academically as well as spiritually.

As for the staff, they've done a lot to make our life comfortable. Maintenance has done a great job in making residence life fun. We sometimes take advantage of them in that we forget to thank them for the small "fix it" sessions they do in the dorms. You guys are great and we love you!

Bookstore and Campus Shoppe have upgraded immensely this year and have provided great services for us students. Thanks for your continuous hospitality!

From Enrollment Services and the Registrar's Office to the Business Office, they've put up with many complaints and questions. Your doors have been open for us students and you have been very approachable. Thanks!

And to all of those people who do thankless jobs, we appreciate the ministry you have in this school. Without you, the school would not run smoothly. God bless you all!

What Do the Faculty Think of Themselves?

The OBC Faculty is composed of gentlemen and women who approach their teaching and advising tasks with fortitude, imagination, intelligence and integrity. While each is individually capable of performing their duties with alacrity, together they join their mellow voices in one harmonious concert of melody.

A short lexicon for the definitionally-challenged:

Compose—from Latin "compostun", a mixture of decayed material.

Gentle—from Middle English "gentil", heathen.

Teach—from Middle English "teched", mentally unbalanced.

Advise—from Old French "aviser", giving information that is not wanted.

Fortitude—from Middle French "fort", closed, shut, impenetrable.

Imagination—from New Latin "imago", imaginary, fanciful, unreal.

Intelligence—from Middle English , an agency that digs up useless facts.

Integrity—from Latin "integer", i.e. a base entity.

Alacrity—from Latin "alacritas", neat a lake, inundated, swamped.

Mellow—from Middle English "mellowe", well-aged, over-ripe, rotten.

Harmonious—from Old Hebrew "herman", a cartoon.

Concert—from Middle French "concerter", i.e. a candy to diminish halitosis.

Melody—from Old Scottish "me-oldia", grey-haired, cute and cuddly.

— translated from the original Syriac by Glenn Wyper (a.k.a. Rob Hiebert)

This is one professor that was definitely taken by surprise. Just look at that facial expression!
(Dr. Beth Posterski - Ministry Studies Chair)

Despite what students think, they aren't the only ones who have to crack open the books.
(Glenn Wyper - OT Prof.)

"Hey, Lise, what's happening to your computer scene?" "Oh no, not again. This is the third time this week that ADAM has crashed!" (Lise Shields - Registrar's Assistant)

"Excuse me, but what do you think you are doing? I hate being interrupted when I'm marking papers!" (Paul Bramer - Ministry Studies Prof.)

LOOKING BACK

Boy, was Isobel so made when John took this picture. She was yelling so loud you could hear her in the Business Office (Isobel Cortes - Registrar's Secretary)

"Hey Neil, what are you doing lying down on the job?" "I'm not! Those yearbook people turned the picture sideways on me." (Neil Vanleeuwin - Custodial Services)

You come here looking for pizza. I have no pizza. I only sell candy and chips and that sort of thing. Honest!
(Jeff Stearns - Bookstore/Campus Shoppe Clerk)

Well, we certainly know that the staff are well loved! But what about Fred?
(Fred Hall, Margie May, Dr. Ebe Sikakane, Krista Hall)

Faculty & Staff of OBC
"A Graduate's View"

OBC, what's that? When I first arrived at this school, my first reaction was one of absolute horror. I had no idea why I was here and who the teachers were. So, as a lost student, I went about asking other older students who this teacher was and what he/she was like. The responses I received only served to strengthen my frightened mind.

Now, as I look back over the last four year as I graduate, I honestly can not think of a more AWESOME group of people to have as friends and family than the faculty and staff of OBC.

They were a constant source of encouragement and love, caring people who were not afraid to confront (carefront) when necessary. People who were vast vaults of knowledge (sometimes, not the knowledge that you were looking for but knowledge that challenged you to grow). To you, the Faculty & Staff of OBC, we, the graduates, of 1994-95 applaud the time and effort you have given us to help mould us into the men and women that Christ Jesus wants us to be. Our gratitude and thanks go with you as we leave to step out on our own.

The Graduating Class of 1994-95

"Where Do We Get These Beauties?"

Have you seen yourself in these pages? Maybe you have seen yourself in a very interesting situation, and wonder "How did John get that picture?"

Well, in responce to that. I would like you to think back over the last couple of months and remember when there was a camera trained on you. Yes, your fellow roomies. They have continuously donated photos to my cause. That is to capture the real, uncensored edition of the typical OBC student, staff, or faculty member. Though, we do censor some photos, to produce an accurate representation of life at OBC, we are not beyond croping the photo to suit our purposes. So, if you happen to see something in the book that you remember to be very revealing but is cropped to suit the book, you can thank your dormmates for that photos. Some of my photographers to thank would be Natasha Gascho, Melanie Joseph, Tracey Ross, Andy Nagel, Danielle Lamarche, Robin Bailey, Jen Dyett, and many more. LOOK OUT!! Some of them will be around next year!

"And Mom said I would have to study hard...This is the life. Eh, waiter! Another pie. Make it a strawberry/rhubbard. (Don Elliott - Cherry Pie Eating Contestant)

"No Really, it's moving. I'm not sure what it is. But it don't smell good either.
(Lise Shields, Kevin Kirk - Registrars Offisce)

This is Her Lady's and Gentlemen. The 94/95 Beaver Food Pie Eating Champion. Don't go to close she looks like she's going to loose it all, quicker than she took it in.
(Julie Hackett)

"The secret to free time is this. You hear footsteps in the hall, pick up the phone. Give an acknowledging wave and wait fo them to leave. Works like a charm. Then you can get to the important stuff, like video games.
(Bell Voegelin - Comptroller)

"Mama always said, if you keep doing that, you're face is gonna get STUCK!

3 North

"Adds a Little Spice to Life at OBC!"

Take off to the Great White North, eh! Yessiree- Bob, we are definitely one "strange brew", but we sure know how to partee. Be warned, however, before venturing onto our floor: You might run into Fariborz in the hallway swinging a sledgehammer and wearing women's clothing adorned with fragmentation grenades while singing "Allahu Akbar" (If you do, take a hint - run for your life!).

Yes, Life, contrary to what you may have heard, is what 3rd Floor is all about. Our lives are in constant flux, brimming over with many theology sessions, jam sessions, cram sessions, depressions, obsessions, regressions, digressions and, sometimes, indigestions. Our days are full, our nights are full, our stomachs are full (thanks to 2-for-1 pizza). Yes, quite honestly, 3 North is the spice of life: Obnoxious yet courteous, friendly yet arrogant, selfish yet sensitive. We are, in all humility, the best. Incorrigible, indestructible, impassible, indomitable - No other words do us full justice. Indeed, we are just too deep for words.

Yet, in all our diversity and complexity, if there is one remaining constant, it is our age (average 33). We are seriously serious guys whose favourite pastime is to know the One "in whom we live, move, and have our being." So if you young-uns want to learn a thing or two about life, about theology, come visit us...Otherwise, take off, eh!!! And heh! Have a good day!!!

What's That Noise Coming from the 3 South?

Ah, yes! As you walk into Alloway South, you can hear the sweet voice of Dawna singing as she plays her guitar, "Lord, you.. are.. more.. precious than.. sil.. ver.." Trish, our very own Sem Geek, is blasting U2 and Jodi runs past you screaming as she tries to avoid yet another phone call. (At this point, you may want to make note of what color her hair is this week.) At this time of the day, Shannon and Cynthia are off at York, Cherlyn and Amy are at work, Patricia is in another meeting and Inez is at practice. Ellie is at Seneca, Vania's at the front desk, and Trish, well you can "Hunt" her down at church. Toshimi is diligently studying in her room but would love it if you dropped by, and if you get the munchies, Julie has a wonderful assortment of treats on her candy tray.

After quiet hours though, the whole gang is home and you can hear us laughing in the hallway. Yes, it's hard to enforce quiet hours here. We're so good at it during the day but at night, AT NIGHT!, well, that's a different story. Besides, everyone is usually awake in the hall anyway! We are all bunched up on the floor eating pizza, popcorn, ice cream, Julie's candy, Mrs. Wilson's cookies, and any other food to be found on the third floor (always check Dawna and Vania's stash!). This would be a good time to let you know that it is here Julie often raises a big stink, unlike Vania who is still in the closet!

As morning dawns here at OBC, we on the third floor enjoy watching the smoke on the water. Above the silence a haunting melody drifts - "Petunia Blakeley, my friend, Petunia Blakeley...."

Growing Together In 4 North

Mary Poppins defined the word "Super-cala-fragilistic-expialadocious" as the word to say when you don't know what to say. No other word fits the situation that Kevin and Joshua find themselves in.

How do you put words down to describe gentlemen that are far beyond description? How can we hope to possibly portray our true feelings when words just won't suffice? We can't, but we shall try.

From the first few weeks, we knew that we had the potential in this dorm to see it become something great. The way these complete strangers bonded with each other so well, the way they quickly became a group of brothers, heightened our expectations.

Joshua Sklar & Kevin Johnson

From late night pizza runs to early morning Testament, we did Old it all. Wild and wacky does not do us justice for the late night some of episodes that went on. (Surprisingly enough, very few of us were written up.)

But not only did we grow together, having fun and enjoying each other's company in social settings, we prospered spiritually. We grew together as brothers not only in the most amazing dorm around. We grew together in Jesus Christ.

Gentlemen, for the high times, the low times, and all the times in between, we love you dearly. We shall always carry a soft spot in our hearts and a torch held high for the gentlemen of NORTH.

THE TRUE NORTH STRONG AND FREE!!!

4 Central Reaches Goal

"Keeping Christ Central"

In a year when there was no baseball and no hockey, the men of Central were left pondering, "What is there left to live for?" After many late night debates over pizza and subs in the Central lounge, there shone a ray of hope ...the year would not be a total loss ...there was an answer amidst the turmoil we call life (or sports). The answer was found in the least expected place ...a place where many had journeyed but few had succeeded. We found it within each other. In our quest to keep Christ "central" in our own lives, we discovered that our strength lay in our common focus. (An important aspect that MLB and the NHL were overlooking.)

While baseball and hockey continued their stubborn ways, Central established themselves as "Canada's Team" through dominating the flag football season. Tremendous support and encouragement was displayed by the entire dorm from each player right through to Frankie our "personal trainer", John our "photographer", Alex our "statistician", and Robin our "Head coach". Thanks guys for an incredible season. Central once again upheld its proud tradition of the football field.

Central's theme of "Keeping Christ Central" permeated every aspect of life in the dorm. Whether it was marathon prayer rallies in the lounge, Christ-like attitudes on the football field, or uplifting and encouraging one another in our everyday conversations, Central accomplished their goal through establishing a community centered on Christ. From the beginning of Frosh week to the end of exams in April, the bond that was formed between each guy in the dorm was cemented in Christ.

Trevor Russell & Jeremy Lehman

"What is more, I consider everything a loss compared to the surpassing greatness of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord, for whose sake I have lost all things...that I may gain Christ...I want to know Christ and the power of this resurrection...becoming like him in his death..."
Philippians 3:8,10
Central Theme Verse '94-95

Jay and Trevor would like to thank Central for an absolutely amazing year...we will never forget you guys!!!
May the Spirit of Central live on forever!!!

The Awesome Happenings of 4 South

To South,

What can be said to best describe you, the men o' south? Well, there's always the stereos. That seemed to be the prerequisite. Much wattage in order to belong. Even so, everyone found themselves cranking the volume, trying to listen to their own stereo over Matt and Todd's state of the art, 5000+++ watt, library rockin, sound system. South Quiet?? We were not!

Then there were those great morning bonding times. A cup of hot coffee, a chocolate chip cookie, and lots of goss...uh, spiritually stimulating, envigorating rich, deep conversation in Don and Ed's room.

Late night talks. Pass the guitar (you mean everyone doesn't play one?) and sing us a song. It all happened in the south lounge. Would someone please clean up that microwave!?! "It's just not right! It shouldn't be that way!" Then, there was football!

On the field we were graceful, we were dominant, we were powerful, we came and took over...Alright, we ran around trying to confuse the opposition with plays that didn't even make sense to us. Anyone figure out where the flats are? I wish the Q.B. did.

Edmundo DeFreitas & Donald Ludlow

We prayed together, we laughed together, we prayed and laughed together, at the same time that is. The men of south were men committed to prayer and the search of a deeper relationship with the one who brought them together. They grew in favour with God and with the other dorms.

Secret Saint Weeks, concerts of prayer, joint prayer meetings, dorm dates, cheering from the sidelines, catacombs. If one word could describe our sisters it would have to be...Awesome. Thank you for all your support, your encouragement and your love.

South was what it has always been and more. It was a place to belong, a place to share, even a place to disagree. A place where unity went beyond conformity and explored the realm of indiviuality.

Each one of you has contributed to making our year an unforgettable one. You have played a part in writing memories in our hearts. We pray that many will linger wilth you.

Someday we'll all sit together, laugh, and say...remember when?

We love you guys!

Take Christ with You, 5 North!

Well, women, our year of living together in the wilds of North Country has come to an end. Can you believe it? Doesn't it seem like just yesterday that you were thrown into a small institutional looking room with a weirdo for a roommate and two psycho chicks in purple trying to tell you all about meridian maul?

Kara Reipma & Cindy Nyp

Now, that weirdo has (hopefully) become a friend, and not only have you mastered the telephone thing, you're sick and tired of getting messages from the still psycho chicks who no longer wear purple! We've done so much as a family this year, all the while becoming more and more REAL in our Christian walks. We've laughed and cried, prayed and sung, dominated on the courts, and (under the leadership of one brave soul) fought the cockroach battle. Future OBC generations will remember us and smile as they eat their morning branflakes (that was for you Andrea!!!).

So now, as you leave this place for the summer, for a few years or for your life, please take with you the precious gift of a REAL relationship with Christ. Shine out the gifts and talents that He has given you with enthusiasm and great confidence. For God has not given us a Spirit of timidity, but a Spirit of POWER, of LOVE and of SELF-DISCIPLINE (2 Timothy 1:7). We love you, 5 North!!

The Addams Family had "Thing". Central had "Thang". Everyone thought central's unity stemmed from Jay and Trevors Leadership, the X-Files tell a different story.

"Aw, C'mon Mom, of course I ate my milk and cookies. I even brushed my teeth afterwards. Yes, I'll be right home after school, love you Mommy.

"LIKE A RHINESTONE COWBOY"... Hey where is my horse gone now.....?
(Guiseppe Di Vincenzo - 3rd Floor Resident)

WHAT'S HOT

Listen, it's camera happy people that push me to the edge. Today is one of those days where you don't want to see what the edge looks like.
(Trevor)

"You like, I can do the same for you at a bargain price. All you need is tell me what you want for an accessorie, and beauty will be seconds away.
(Patricia Blakley, Carsten Lorenz)

WOW, few times in the history of OBC has such beauty, such elegance, such feminity set foot in these halls and classrooms. I hope the female population is taking notes.

From a Student's Perspective:

A Broad View of College Life...

"The most important things though are the memories and the friendships made here that will last for a lifetime and the learning and strengthening of our personal relationship with God that will last for ever."

Life at OBC is...an experience!

Being a frosh and living in dorm, you never want to miss out on anything. There is always lots to talk about, laugh about and cry about with friends. Loud music is often heard through the halls and windows, and you hardly ever get any sleep. If you want to procastinate, the Kat is the place to be; playing pool and hanging out with friends. Chapels and singing are great ways to get together and worship God. The most important things though are the memories and friendships that will last a lifetime and the learning and strengthening of our personal relationship with God that will last forever!

By: Jennifer Heideman

It says in the word that we are to call on the Lord because he may be found. So I dialed home!

"Be still for the presence of the Lord is moving in this place."

It's 4:00 AM at Ontario Bible College. Like so many of the students, Bret works had to complete a paper. Hey, that's my typewriter!

I wonder what Mom would think if I shaved my head? Studying fills your mind with crazy thoughts.

It might seem hard to believe, but this is an actual shot. It is not a dramatization. This is a true life situation. Some of our students have discovered the location of the library.

Play, Play, Play!! play with ME!

Awww, come on and

What is play? The New Lexicon Webster's Encyclopedic Dictionary of the English Language defines it as "to take part in games or a game of, to play tennis, to make music on a musical instrument, to frolic, to strike or deliver, to act in a theatrical performance, to imitate or pretend to be, to engage in amusement for amusement." These are only a few of the definitions from Webster. Ha Ha. We here at OBC have a different meaning for the word "PLAY". To us, it means to enjoy quality time spent with friends, to let off some steam during exam times, to let the little kid inside of us come out. Most of all, it means to let the fun loving nature that God has created in us join those whom we love to play with the most. They would be our brothers and sister whom God has also created in his image.

The competition was fierce at our first ever Mr. OBC competition. It was a hard decision, but Chip Hancock took it all. Way to go, Chip!

"Oh, Lord, if ever I needed you, this is the time. I know I've been asking you to light the fire, but this is not what I meant."

"Yeah! I'm flying." Can someone bring this girl to reality? Melanie, it's only a slide.

What you don't know is what happened next! Don bit and scratched his way out and girls never messed with him again. You can ask Farmer McKracken.

Beaver: Food for Thought?

Food? Any substance which by a process of metabolism, a living organism can convert into fresh tissue, energy, etc. or a solid substance eaten for nurishment, e.g. chef's surprise (breaded veal or Ratatoloui, or whatever that is) or as Webster explains, "something which can be put to constructive use (the meatloaf in relation to a brick)." I wonder if Webster every ate at the OBC cafeteria. If he ever had the chance to eat here, he would definitely want to change this definition. In all respect, we should be grateful to Beaver Foods for the meals which they so faithfully supply us each day.

"Hey, Eugene, pass the salad. Mmmmmm! This crunchie stuff in the salad tastes amazing. Any idea what it is?"

"Do you reeaally want to know? Ha, Ha, Ha."

One of the favorite meals at OBC has to be seafood. Oh my, I get goose bumps just thinking about it. Yes, seafood and fries. We eat and laugh and laugh...

Gotcha, Kevin! Ha, Ha!

Sometimes the penalty of having to pay a fine is not too high a price to pay. You see this food? One more picture and...

Aggressive eating has become a problem at OBC. Be careful, Aaron. It's gonna get you!

No cares in the world!

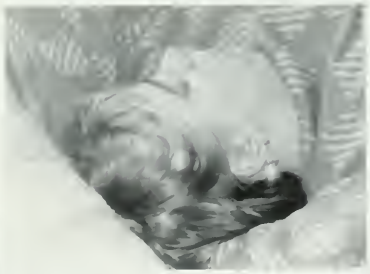
No, seriously, it's a family tradition! You lift up the right leg and wave the bagels in the air....Try it. It's a bundle of fun. We should make this a school event.

You Snooze, You Lose

You thought you could hide! I wasn't there. You never know when I might show up. Wroooong!!! I don't have to show up. My goons show up for me. They caught you napping on the job. Students don't need sleep, or rather it seems that they never do, sleep that is.

What is sleep, you ask? It could be just a little catnap or a coma. You could doze off in class or you could be dozing right now. Am I making you drowsy? If you could only be a bear, you might be able to hibernate somewhere. Lethargic is next. Are you sure you want to nap or just plain nod? Sweet repose isn't it nice to be able to go back and rest without mice? Mexican siesta, lumberjack snooze-if you can explain somnolism, we'll feature you on the news! Slumber, stupor, trance-that's the end! Sweet dreams until we meet again!!

(That would be page 66.)



Isn't he an angel?

Late nights and early risings make for tired students. It also makes for interesting picture. Who is this? Can you guess? _____ (you fill in)

A variety of animal life is not scarce at OBC. Try walking around the residence early in the morning and you'll see what I'm talking about. No Blaine, I wasn't talking about you. See ya!

Change of PACE

Thank You for Being My Friend...

Thank you for believing in me when I found it difficult to believe in myself... for saying what I've needed to hear sometimes,
instead of what I've wanted to hear...
for siding with me...
and for giving me another side
to consider.

Thank you for keeping me
from taking myself-or my problems-too seriously... and for not laughing at me when I was too sensitive to laugh at myself.

Thank you for opening yourself up to me...
for trusting me with your thoughts and disappointments and dreams...
for knowing you can depend on me and for asking my help when you've needed it.

Thank you for putting so much thought and care and imagination into our relationship... for sharing so many nice times-
and for making so many special memories-with me

Thank you for always being honest with me....
being kind to me...
being there for me...
Thank you for being a friend to me in so many truly meaningful ways.

- Dorothy R. Colgan

I don't care what it takes, I'm going to get in every picture in this yearbook. I love these Katmavik parties!

I'm not sure I like the methods of transpotation in Cape Breton. Are you sure all the guys do this there?

The secrets we keep are bound to catch up with us. Hope Sandy doesn't see this!

The OBC experience develops much more than just our minds. It builds on the talents we've been given and encourages us to be all that God calls us to be. Unfortunately, it seems to have no affect on fashion.

How could anyone say no to such beautiful, caring, friendly, innocent children-Ooops! I'm sorry, women of God?

Listen, I'm smiling for the picture, but I'd appreciate it if you'd keeps your hands to yourself.

WIDE WORLD OF SPORTS

The 1994-1995 OBC Varsity Teams

Subhead B(L) is set in 14 point Times Italic.

Men's Basketball Team

Good day and welcome to a paragraph in the life of the Ontario Bible College Swordsmen Basketball team. This was a stellar year, a year of truly ludicrous proportions. This year saw the Swordsmen beat the very first American team that they have ever beaten throughout theur long and sordid history. We were witness to a display of an enormous reservoir of coaching prowess. The team itself performed beyond any reasonable expectations. It was the dawn of a new era in politics and commerce. Peace ruled throughout the many lands of this great planet, and we had the Ontario Bible College Swordsmen Basketball team to thank for it. Life was grand.

Is any of this true? Heck, how should I know? It's only December. Yearbooks are swell.

Women's Basketball Team

"Let us run the race with perseverance." The Ladies Basketball team has certainly put this year's theme verse well into practice. They have put off all that hinders (?the boys?) when it comes to practice time. These women have shown an incredible amount of dedication and intense effort to the game of basketball. Determination to play impeccably, practice intensely and socialize immensely has led this team to an all-round success in the game of basketball. This year's frosh recruitment could not have been better!! You ladies truly were an asset. Lorna and Rose, our graduating heroes- Thanks! It has been a great three years. Graham, we couldn't have done it without your help. Thanks for putting up with us. Great work, Team! Thanks for the incredible effort and the beautiful reflections you each are.

Men'sVolleyball Team

Following a championship season, this year's men's volleyball team had a hard act to follow. It was obvious at the beginning of the season that the pressure to succeed was a lot for this young team to handle.

Through the course of the season, through hard work and determination by both the coaching staff and the players, OBC's men's volleyball team created themselves as the most intimidating team in the OCCAC. Special mention to Duane Jukema and Mark Abraham for their improvement and hard word. And thank you to Kev, Jay and George for their coaching and support.

Basically, the men's volleyball team took care of business!

Women's Volleyball Team

This year in volleyball, the ladies' team has grown into a great team that works together supporting each other and laughing a great deal! We have learned to move quicker than molasses in January (or is that quicker than molasses in the microwave, Callie?). Not oly did we do great in the tournaments, we had a lot of fun doing it! The team is encouraging and our focus has been to have fun. Thanks to our amazing coach for his guiding us through practices and games with this focus of having fun (and admitting who really is the greatest, right Luana?). I am sure that we will all go away after the season is over with great memories! We'll also have a little more skill and a lot more perseverance and determination in volleyball. And remember - HIGHER! FASTER! STRONGER!!

OBC Swordsmen Hockey Team

Hockey is far more than a sport; it's a way of life for those who play the game. The Swordsmen hockey team is filled with players who "live" the game. At the beginning of this year, we decided not to play in a league, but rather to play in a number of tournaments throughout the season. Our team consists of players from OBC and OTS, both residents and those from out of dorm. Our goal for the sean was to have fun, win or lose, and have fun we did! As coach, I would like to congratulate all the players on their excellent effort this season and wish them God's blessings for the seasons to come.

By: Don Elliott

Ah! 1994-95 - The year in Sports. Well, what can be said? Really - What can be said? Hmmmm! Yes!! Flag football started things off with a BANG! With the Big Bad Central machine rolling through the season undefeated and winning the championships, stopping South in its quest for a 4-PEAT. Floor hockey was a tremendous success, though it is only January and the draft, let alone the season, hasn't even started yet. But I'm sure it will be great.

Jon Seekings
Male Social Convenor

In the lovely field of varsity sports, OBC proved that it is a force second to none in the OCCAC. Men's volleyball is poised to win back-to-back titles and in basketball, only one team stands between the Big Men of the court and a title - themselves. One of the most talented and deepest teams in the history of OBC hoops also became the first team to defeat an American team, defeating two of them on the way to a third place finish at the Wagner Classic in Washington, D.C. In Hockey, there hasn't been much to report as all of their games occur after this is due, but I'm sure they will do well.

Well, it has been an excellent year in sports at OBC. Thanks to all the coaches and people who helped out making 1994-95 the best year in sports at OBC.

This past year in the wide world of sports has been one to remember! Our Ladies' Intramural Volleyball league evolved into a touch football league. From there, we moved into Floor Hockey season. As you can see, the interests of our Swordswomen are as varied as the ladies who played! A special word of thanks to my partner Jon who helped out whenever he could

As for our varsity teams, we have amazing coaches with dedicated team players. Our Ladies' Varsity Volleyball team have awesomely dug and spiked their way through a very impressive season. As for our Swordswomen Basketball team, we have left an impressive sense of pride with whose who have seen the games. Congratulations to both varsity teams and their coaches for a very successful season.

Rosemary Scharfe
Female Social Convenor

Being the Female Sports Convenor this year was a great privilege. I would not have been able to do it without the help of Steve Wilson and many students. Throughout the year, our ladies have displayed competitive sportsmanship with positive attitudes which bring glory to God. May we continue to be ambassadors for Christ no matter where we are or what game we are playing.

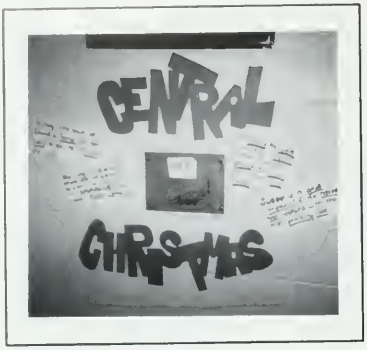
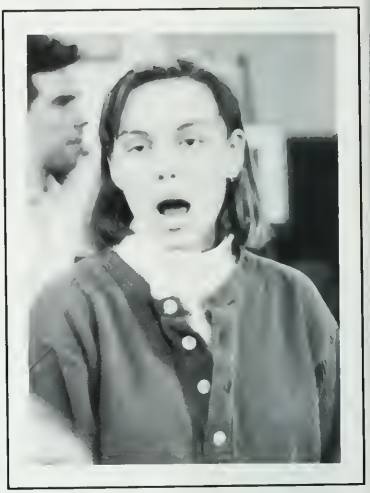
[illegible] of Central want to wish you all the best for the Christmas season. Praise be to the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.



She didn't know I took this picture. Actually, Natasha very seldom studies, especially a book like this. It should be common knowledge. Right!!

Hey, Tara, too much to drink or is it just one of those days? Hee, Hee. You look marvelous!



No, really! My back does hurt! Right here....I'm not kidding guys!

This is the first time that I've ever seen Luana get cold feet, literally. Now you know why there is a ring around the edge of the sink. Kidding!

As I ponder life's role, I have come to wonder why chicken's act like they do...

'Cause I have a really big urge to scratch for seed right now!

Ha! Are you kidding? Me work? Ha! I just sit here and click people. See? Watch. That's 128. Ha!

If these are our future contractors, I'm moving somewhere else. Nice houses, Ladies!

LOOKING BACK

"Oops, I'm caught now. Please don't tell them I was jumping on the beds?" "Waaa, I want my mommie!"

Hey, Don! Thuphf! Don, what do you think you're doing? Mmrfmgh? Come again, I couldn't understand, Mmrfmgh!! Oh, you're blowing a bubble! Well, why didn't you say so!

Pllggh! Yes, you too can have Bill for the low price of $_____!

Do you really like her? Oh, you are all crazy. The whole lot of ya!

Students Reach Out To And From Our School

Each year, several of the Student Council committees put together teams of students to reach out to the community, city and province that we live in. In some cases, these students put their own lives at risk in order to take the gospel of Christ to those who need to hear it.

Other teams provide ministry to the student body here at OBC. One such example is the OBC Choir who performed excerpts from Handel's Messiah at Christmas time.

We extend heartfelt thanks to those involved in these ministries.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS

What is ministry ? Webster's Dictionary defines ministry as "the office and duties of a minister of religion" How does OBC fit into this definition ? While most of us don't hold a Doctorate in Theology, OBC offers a wide range of ministry opprtunnies for those wishing to reach out to the community

This year the Urban Ministries Team set apart Thursdays to head downtown and hand out sandwiches to those living on the street. Steadfast performed at area churches as part of the services. There were also free concerts given by Aslan and the OBC Choir.

As a new member of the OBC Choir, this year was really fun and exciting for me. I had the opportunity to tell about God's love the best way I can - by singing. This is, in essence, the purpose of the ministry teams - to provide a way for everyone to show God's love to others in the best way they can.

THE SPIRIT OF ONTARIO BIBLE COLLEGE

YEP! YEP! WE'VE GOT SPIRIT...OH, BABY!

Rah, Rah, Sis-Boom-Bah! Does OBC have any school spirit, you ask. I would think so! This book full of memories for years to come should prove that to any would-be reader. Though the pictures in this book may not show flag waving or painted faces, in our school colors, the Spirit of OBC has never been stronger. The student body is dedicated to making their time here one full of joys, tears, laughing and crying, times of worship and prayer and times of playing in the mud and the snow. Do we have school spirit? Yes Sir-Ree, Bob!

If you ever have had the chance to talk with our own Mr. Spirit, he would most likely respond with, "Yep, Yep, We have spirit..."

Thank you to you the students who have provided a thrilling year of excitement and spirit here at OBC. Remember to always...

BE TRUE TO YOUR SCHOOL!

The OBC Spirit lives on!!

Special Secrets

"A Blast from Some of Our Grads' Pasts."

For the past three years, the yearbook staff has included a special tribute to the graduating class in a section titled "Special Secrets". This year, it is the Class of 1995 that is featured.

One of the reasons that this section is a featured item of our yearbook publication is to give the rest of the student body a chance to see "a blast from the past" of a few select grads. It is always a lot of fun to see what some of students looked like when they were a bit younger. Kind of cute weren't they?

Another reason is to give some parents a chance to give their children a note of encouragement, a note of thanks or a note filled with memories. These two pages always tend to be very special reminders from the people who brought these grads into this world.

There is no particular method to choosing who will get their pictures in these two pages. That is left up to the discretion of the yearbook editor, who happens to be, once again, John Brennan, himself a graduate. (Unfortunately, I didn't have the chance to try to sneak in one of John!) Even though only a few grads make it into this section every year, we consider every student who leaves this school because of graduation special!

The word "special", according to Webster (he seems to be putting his two cents in a lot, isn't he?), means "particular in kind, something especially singled out and featured". I think enough has been said in that definition!

The word "secret"means "something kept from the knowledge of others, known only to the initiated". In this case, the "initiated" would be a select group of people, normally including some on the yearbook staff and the grads' parents. Every once in a while, the secret of who is in this section is leaked out. That's O.K. though.

I think enough has been said. Remember grads, you are all very special to us and we will miss you a lot when you are gone!

Lynn Mackley

Dear Lynn,

There was never a sweeter little girl or one so full of surprises as you. Being our firstborn, you set the tempo for your brothers to be studious, hard-working and a leader instead of a follower. We thank God for your loving spirit, the unconditional love you have for people, your hard-working ethic and I thank God for your desire to seek His will for your life. We are so grateful for a daughter such as you, a daughter who has become our friend and advisor. we are proud of who you are and what you have become. God has done a good work in you and will continue until the day of Jesus Christ. Congratulations on your graduation, and may God bless you and keep you as He continues to direct you in His service.

In God's service we commend you.

Love Always, Mom and Dad,
Sandy and David

Frank Duan

Congratulations, Son,

Over the last four years, we have watched you grow in the Lord. Your heart for His service is something of which we are proud. Keep striving to be more like Christ!

Your family

Congratulations, Trev!

These 3 years have gone so fast! We have enjoyed watching you grow in the Lord. Keep trusting Him and building on the firm foundation of the Word and the Spirit.

We love you and pray for you.

Pamela Stringer

Dearest Pink, Precious, Pamela,

Can you even begin to imagine the thankfulness we feel for all our Lord has done and is doing in your life?

We have enjoyed watching, prayerfully, from the sidelines as you discovered your many wonderful talents. So... not only will we continue to uphold you prayerfully, we will thoroughly enjoy watching you use them for Him.

Lovingly,
Dad & Mom

Scott & Cindy, Nyp

Scott and Cindy,

"(We) have no greater joy than to hear that (our) children are walking in the truth." (3 John 4)

As we watched each of you grow, we, as parents, could sometimes only stand in amazement as we watched you develop the great gifts and talents with which the Lord has blessed you.

We've watched both of you mature in all areas of your lives, and we are so proud of you both.

We are awed and humbled at the constant evidence of God's grace to our family.

It is said that as parents the greatest gifts that we can give our children are roots and wings.

It is our prayer that you both "build yourselves up in your most holy faith ...and keep yourselves in God's love" as you each go forward in whatever direction His Spirit may lead you.

God bless you both.

Love Always,
Mom, Dad and Susan

A PICTURE IS WORTH A THOUSAND WORDS

Dear Dawna

What beautiful memories we have of our family growing up and seeing the transformation from children to adults.

Dawna was a young boy filled with much love and willingly gave it out to anyone who would receive it. He had a strong sense of family that never was and but grew stronger as we got older. As he grew into a young man it was his desire to do a job right the first time around and he soon developed into a firm dependable young man who has shown himself to be capable beyond his years.

Two beautiful children different but similar unique and yet all showing God's hand and what he has given them differently. It is hard to believe the time of you are graduating from B.C. together this year. Lynn and Sandy with Bachelors of Religious Education and David with a One Year Certificate. We are so aware of the time of you for following God's plan for your lives, for having the courage to leave home to attend college, to leave your comfort zone to go to a world unfamiliar and sometimes unfriendly to you. As surely as God had called you by name to be His own, He has also called you to go to a needy world with a message of Hope, Love and Eternal Life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

David Mackley

May God bless you and keep you, may his light shine upon you this day and always.

Love Mom & Dad

Dawna Wilson Ebenezer Craig

Congratulations on your graduation. We love you and are proud of you. God bless you as you seek His will for your life.

Dear Sandy

Our bundle of joy who always had a million dollar smile to give away. This is the smile that God gave you and you have kept this wonderful gift only to give it out freely to whoever needs it. We thank God for His tender mercies and the many blessings He has bestowed on you, your heart for the Lord and the people. He has put in your path your wonderful, kind gentleness and the desire you have to seek God's will for your life. Congratulations on your graduation from Bible College and may God bless you and keep you all the days of your life.

In God's Service we command you.

For all your hard work and patience, for your dedication and determination, we would like to say "congratulations" for a job well done. You are a young woman whose spirit has soared high and overcome many challenges.

We are now, and always will be, proud of you and your accomplishments. You've truly done well. May God bless and keep you as you continue to travel life's pathways.

We thank God for giving you to us to cherish and love. We're so happy to share this special day with you.

Happiness and joy to you always. May you continue to walk with God and let Him guide you.

"SMILE"

Well, staff...after another semesters hard work I can honestly say that I am ready to hand over the baton to someone else. I'm not saying that I won't miss producing the yearbook, no sir...it's just time to move on.

As I wached the book come together over the last year, I couldn't help but wonder why people wanted to be involved in something that took alot of time. Then it hit me..."to have something that they can look back on and say I did that, I helped produce this book".

This book, our year in memories far surpassed those done in the past years. To an AWESOME staff, to an AWESOME job.

*Congratulations, on a book worth of another CENTURY OF CHRIST SERVICE!

A Moment's Thought

John Bowman
Editor

A Dedication

The 1994-95 edition of the BC yearbook does not contain a dedication. If one looks hard enough though, one might just find one (page 96)! Over the 100 years that BC has existed, many (not, thousands of) friendships have been made. One of the friendships that stands out in my mind is the one formed between the yearbook editor (John Bowman) and myself as well as many other people who have crossed John's path).

John Bowman is an amazing guy. Here is a person who dedicates himself to a project like the yearbook and then finds time however, it and has educational pursuits to care for the people he calls friends.

The yearbook takes a tremendous amount of a person's time. Some of the things that John has done to produce this book are spending weeks on end of time and film taking and developing pictures; many, many hours (remember the 36 hour cram session for a deadline?) working on the computer to put the pages together; and those frustrating meetings (phone calls, I mean) with our yearbook rep (not this year!!!!). The dedication that John has put into producing a book that exhibits Christ is sure in every page.

The there is another side to John that one might not see by looking at his work - the time that he makes for his friends (human or otherwise). Many people in this school have seen the recipients of the love that John carries in his heart. He has opened his room, ears and arms to those who have just needed someone to be there. Who could forget those outings to the Science Center, the Zoo or Canada's Wonderland!

John, you are one of the kindest and most loving people I have met (especially when you are not trying to take the computer out!). Thank you for being my friend! Your contribution and friendship will be treasured and missed!

P.S. - Thanks staff for your great work this year!

CELEBRATING A CENTURY

CELEBRATING OUR HERITAGE

This is our Centennial Year! It may be said that one hundred year old institutions are unusual but they are not rare. What is rare is a one hundred year old institution that has remained faithful to the Biblical principles upon which it was founded.

In North America, and especially in the north-eastern United States, most of the centres of higher learning, including Princeton, Yale and Harvard, were founded as Christian universities which would train students for ministry. Ontario Bible College began with a similar purpose.

In his book Canadian Evangelicalism in the Twentieth Century, John G. Stackhouse, Jr, says, "Toronto Bible College arose out of the evangelicalism characteristic of Ontario in the late nineteenth century."

In writing the story of Ontario Bible College, Author Alvyn Austin points out that Toronto was a city where 99% of the population claimed to have a religious preference and where the local newspaper, The Daily Mail, (now The Globe and Mail) ran a contest to boost its sales by having readers vote for the most popular preacher of the day.

The spires of the Anglican, Roman Catholic and Methodist Churches not only dominated the city's skyline, but the churches themselves had a direct effect upon the religious, moral and spiritual life of the city.

It is upon the canvas of this background that we paint the picture of the establishing of the Toronto Bible Training School. The architect of the plan was Rev. Elmore Harris, Minister of the Walmer Road Baptist Church. He was an heir of the Harris family of Brantford who had merged their prosperous farm implement company with another company owned by the Massey family of Newcastle, to form Canada's internationally known farm implement company, Massey-Harris.

Elmore Harris was born in 1854 and was a graduate of the University of Toronto. Rev. Harris built the Bloor Street Baptist Church (which later became Yorkminster Church) largely with his own money. In 1889, he built Walmer Road Baptist Church. His congregation included many prominent and influential citizens of Toronto as well as a number of professors from the U. of T. and McMaster University, the Baptist seminary, at the corner of St. George and Bloor Streets.

Elmore Harris believed that God was leading him to establish a Bible training school in Toronto. It was evident to him that Toronto did not need another seminary as there were already: Knox College (Presbyterian), Victoria University (Methodist), Trinity College (High Anglican), and Wycliffe College (Low Anglican) on the University of Toronto campus.

However, these seminaries were training ministers and pulpit preachers who were studying at the university level. This left a gap as women were not admitted and many young men could not afford a university education. The Bible training school would fill this niche.

On May 14th 1894, Elmore Harris invited twelve leading business people and clergy to his home where he laid before them his "Prospectus of the Toronto Bible Training School". This small group was bound together by a shared vision of the need for a place to train laity in knowledge of the Scriptures and by a common commitment to make that vision a reality.

Classes began in the Walmer Road Church in September of that year. The first class graduated in 1896.

One hundred years later we look back on a long and distinguished history for which we are grateful. Toronto Bible Training School has over the years seen a long line of devoted followers of Christ come year after year to prepare for the work of the kingdom. From our present vantage point we are able to look back and see the faithfulness of God in preserving that original vision.
